We are running an enormous deficit," said Cassis, adding that the shortfall for the current school year is expected to approach $150,000.

Tuition is $2,200 a year, but Cassis said many parents are paying reduced rates.

One year has passed and gone, but all the memories and love we shared will forever live on.

So many lonely moments, so many tears we've cried. If love could have saved you, you never would have died.

Walk slowly down that long, long path, for soon I'll follow you. I want to know each step you take, so I may take the same, for someday down that lonely road you will hear me call your name.

Pass Tricentenial dinner: d'Iberville bust unveiling set

BY ED LEPOMA

Pass Christian gets Tricentennial fever this evening with a kickoff dinner and the unveiling of a bust of Pierre LeMoyne, Sieur d'Iberville.

The dinner hosted by the Pass Christian Area Tricentennial Committee, chaired by bu-sinessman Dan Ellis, is scheduled from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. in the St. Paul Catholic Church Gymnasium, 140 East Beach Blvd. It is free to the public, but the committee will accept donations to offset costs, with leftover proceeds going into committee coffers for future events.

Mayor Billy McDonald and committee members are expected to speak, and music will be provided by Davis and Sax.

Ellis said the committee will work with schools, civic groups, the historical society, businesses and the city to plan events in Pass Christian leading up to the 1999 coastwide celebration that will mark the 300th anniversary of d'Iberville's arrival on the Mississippi Coast.

And, all communities surrounding Pass Christian will be included in celebrations, Ellis said. He wants participation from residents of Henderson

So, do not forget to "spring forward" your clocks one hour on Saturday night.

The Hancock County Art Association (senior citizens group) will hold an art show today from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis Railroad Depot:

There will be 17 local artists who will have a show and sale reports Lou Wilkerson, association secretary. We realize this is pilgrimage day for Bay-Waveland, so you can visit the art show while you are out touring. The thing which amazes me is the fact that many of our senior residents have discovered some very artistic hidden talents. Their art work is very good and worth viewing at the depot today. You will be surprised by their work, just as I have been.

Real IRS reform

For many years the Internal Revenue Service has been feared by hard-working, taxpaying American citizens. Far too often, their fear is justified.

In an effort to dispel that fear, the Senate Finance Committee, on which I serve, began discussing a series of IRS reforms last week. These are the first steps of restructuring that agency as we know it.

First, we will begin by creating a new oversight board to monitor the way IRS conducts its business. This board, which would be made up of private citizens rather than government officials, would be much more than a feel-good group. It will be vested by lawmakers with real authority to investigate auditors and IRS managers who, in some cases, have actually set quotas for their tax collecting staff.

We plan to set goals for the IRS to encourage more electronic filing in order to reduce errors and speed the tax return Shifting the burden of proof in tax disputes from the citizen to the IRS is also a fundamental part of these prospective changes. This is a major shift in thinking, because it has traditionally been up to the accused to prove their innocence in tax cases rather than the IRS agency having to prove its alleged grievance.

That should be reversed. As it is in our criminal justice system, the burden of proof should fall upon the government, and not the accused. By strenghten-ing the taxpayer "Bill of Rights" in this area, we will provide a mutual respect, and perhaps even a bit of trust, between the IRS and the taxpayers.

An innocent spouse's provi-sion should be included in this legislation, to protect those who are not responsible for violating against the IRS. Both wives and husbands are sometimes unfairly charged by the IRS because of chesting which their mate was responsible for on their joint tax return. In some cases the accused are former spouses who are no longer even married to the tax offender. Our bill would make sure that innocent spouses are not unfairly punished for the wrongdoings of others. Finally, we hope to change the methods used to collect late taxes. Taxpayers who fail to pay on time are assessed heavy interest and penalities. This punishment is so burdensome it sometimes exceeds the amount of tax owed, and can actually encourage non-payment.

Passing IRS reform will unfortunately not be easy. Some in the Senate do not want sincere IRS reform, but merely a quick

I want to assure Mississippians that my wish is for the strongest IRS reform package possible. I will not allow government bureaucrats, tax auditors, unions, or their influential friends to prevent us from real and lasting reform. We must do this now. We must do it right. And we must do it with the taxpayer in mind.

By seeking these reforms we are not saying that everyone at. the IRS is guilty, but in many aspects it is clearly an agency out of control. With at least one more round of hearings scheduled, I hope to have an IRS reform package by April 15. But again, it is more important that we do this right than to it quickly.

When these reforms pass, a restructuring of the entire tax-system will follow. The upcoming weeks will show who is serious about IRS reform and who is not. I hope there will be more committed reformers than IRS apologists. If so, an America with a reigned in IRS will be within our grasp.

VA healthcare enrollment

VA healthcare enrollment is a new system providing access for veterans to a comprehensive package of U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs healthcare services. And, it's easy to use. and you will be assigned by VA to one of the newly established priority groups. VA will then send a letter confirming your enrollment and assignment. That's it.

You must be enrolled to receive health care after October 1998, unless you are in one of the following categories:

having a service-connected disability of 50 percent or more. B. It has been less than one year since you were discharged from military service for a com-pensable disability that the military determined was incurred or aggravated in the line of duty and which has not yet been rated by VA.

C. You are seeking care from VA only for a service-connected disability.

VA encourages veterans in the above categories to also apply for enrollment so they can better plan for your healthcare needs

Starting Oct. 1, 1997, all yeterans may apply by contacting the nearest VA facility. If you have received VA healthcare services after Oct. 1, 1996, you do not need to apply. In this case, VA will process an application on your behalf. When enrollment is confirmed, VA will notify you in writing. You can apply for enrollment anytime during the year.

Corrections officials warned about crowded jail issue

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) Mississippi got a warning this week on the crowded jails issue—clear out some inmates or risk facing a whopping court

The Jackson attorney representing inmates in a federal court lawsuit notified corrections officials that he is keeping up with the numbers of state inmates in county jails.

This week, that number is about 587 more inmates than a federal judge has authorized, according to lawyer Ron Welch.

Welch said if the number is not brought down by paroles, gubernatorial pardons and the release of seriously ill inmates, he will go to court to seek fines. dating back to 1994;

A federal judge has already said the state would be liable for $500 per day per inmate for violating his court order outlining how many state inmates may be held in county jails.

Welch said the tab, from September 1994 to present, could total $378 million.

"I'm sure not willing to gamble $378 million of the taxpayers' dollars that they're' going to hold back," said House Penitentiary Committee chairman Bennett Malone, D-Carthage.

Malone said the state should move more inmates out of the county jails into state facilities or regional jails. The 1998 Legislature has already authorized a prison in Tallahatchie County that could hold state inmates and is considering a facility for juvenile lawbreakers in Walnut Grove.

"It's a heck of a lot cheaper to do that then to pay this $500 a day," Malone said.

But he said even with those things, the inmate numbers are rising rapidly.

in debate this week over a bill designed to relieve the overcrowding. The plan would change sentencing requirements. Now, all defendants must serve 85 percent of their sentences as part of a truth-insentencing law plisted in 1995. The Senate wants to reduce that from 85 percent to 60 percent for nonviolent offenders.

We're miles and miles apart on that one," said Malone.

He said the change is viewed as politically unpopular by many in the House.

Supporters have said Mississippi is the only state with such strict sentences for all offenders.

Another bill on which lawmakers are working would extend a program for releasing inmates who are critically ill and have no chance of recovery The House wants to prohibit the release of anyone convicted in connection with a death.

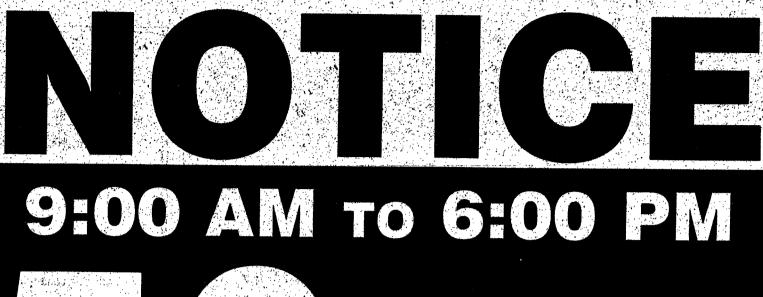

Meanwhile, state officials are considering a response for Welch on the county jails.

In a letter duted Wednesday, Welch praised the state for efforts in adding prison beds but wrote that "the state remains in substantial, continuing contempt" in county jails.

The letter comes about two months after a federal judge released Mississippi from part of the class action lawsuit filed about three decades ago over deplorable prison conditions.

U.S. District Judge L.T. Senter retained control over the part of the suit dealing with county jails.

Malone said next year the Legislature may consider revising the Parole Board, setting up two three-member boards to more thoroughly

Home sales up 23 percent in February

If February home sales in Mississippi are any indication of what the remainder of 1998's real estate market will be like, Mississippians looking to buy or sell a home this year have something to smile about.

The combination of a healthy economy and the lowest interest rates in decades are producing a booming real estate market for the state.

According to the Mississippi Home Sales Report, released by the Mississippi Association of Realtors (MAR), Mississippi's Realtors closed 891 homes in February, boasting an impressive 23 percent rise over February 1997.

MAR president Cynthia S. Joachim, CRS, CIPS, CRB, GRL, GRI of Biloxi, explains that although rising home sales are typical as spring begins, this rise in home sales is also the result of increasing job growth and lower interest rates. "Statistics show that the state's employment has increased by more than 28,000 people form one year ago and interest rates are still low. These favorable conditions are encouraging more Mississippians to become first-time home buyers and are encouraging existing home owners to 'move up' to more house for about the same money," says Joachim.

The state's average home sales price for February was $88,550. The markets claiming the highest average home sales prices in February were Oxford at $111,978; Corinth at $107.338; and the Hattiesbur Area at $106,603. The 1998 year-to-date average selling price is $94,878, ...

"I know the schools will have to encourage it and be willing to invite parents in. When parents do come in, it doesn't always have to be negative. We also have to stress the positive."

Randolph said policy changes regarding absenteeism in the county school district has yielded dramatic results. The attendance rate in the district is up to 96 percent, compared to 88-89 percent in years past. He said the board has now become more actively involved in absenteesim hearings, and exam exemptions are also tied to attendance: Randolph said the board has denied course credit to students because of excessive absences.

Additionally, students with a B average may be exempt from exams, but students must have perfect attendance and no tardy Continued from Page 1A

"We have been successful in increasing our attendance rates, Randolph said.

Although the majority of the Coast schools were down, performance indexes statewide were steady. Of the 142 districts in the state, 113 showed no change. Things stayed fairly constant," said Mississippi Department of Education Accreditation Director Steve Williams. "You won't find school districts that jumped from one and of the scale to the other,

The performance index is based primarily on test scores and is divided into tenths.

"We hope more people will strive to support the improve-ment efforts of local districts." said State Superintendent Dr. Richard Boyd.

"You must be able to attract enough of students to make it viable," he added. "Apparently, there is no great need for a private school.

"We hoped to bring up some children with a better quality of education. Apparently, there is not much interest. You feel like you're banging your head up against a wall

Diamondhead Academy opened in the fall of 1985, and was staffed by volunteer teachers who taught in trailers donated by Hancock Bank. Construction of the 20,000-square foot building that now houses the students began in 1989 with the help of Cassis and was completed in 1990. Currently, there are nine full-time teachers, including principal Derinda Cain. and six part-time teachers on

"It's a very difficult decision because it's such a fine school." said board member and former principal Cal Rogers. "The school is very dear to my heart.

This is such a heartbreaker." "But you must look at the bottom line," she added. "If the finances are not there, you can't keep it open.'

Cassis said the announce-ment was made because the board "felt obligated to inform the teachers and parents. The teachers need to find jobs, and the parents need to enroll their students in other schools."

Cassis said the school's fund raising was hampered this year on two fronts. He said a dispute with the Diamondhead Property Owners Association that eventual resulted in the cancellation of the school's annual arts and crafts show on the country club grounds was loss revenue of $15,000-18,000. Additionally, the annual drawdown was canceled be-cause of lack of interest, Cassis "I do not believe education is a priority in the eyes of many parents," he said. When asked of his emotions when it was finally decided to close the school, Cassis emotionally asked, "Have you seen a grown man cry?"

Rogers added Diamondhead Academy "was such an excellent educational institution. We've done many good things." Principal Derinda Cain could not be reached for comment. Although no plans for the building have been finalized.

Cassis said he has had preliminary with the Hancock County School District regard-ing the possibility of the district taking over the facility. The county district is facing a severe overcrowding dilemma at Hancock North Central and is exploring several possibilities for the next school year, including the possible use of trailers or holding classes in the gym.

A new elementary school is being planned in Kiln, but is not scheduled to open until August County School Superintendent Terrell Randolph confirmed he has talked with Cassis, but said only the Diamondhead site "is an option. Anything is possible."

He offered no further comment.

1. HOME OF COL. AND MRS. FAUST, 112 Sears Street, Waveland. Open 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. The Fausts used the architectural talents of their son to transform a typical Waveland fishing camp into a very comfortable home. The addition of a living room and master bedroom suite were developed to enhance informal lifestyle and the extension of the screen porch lends itself to catching cool Gulf breezes. The most pleasant surprise of the renovation was finding hardwood floors under the linoleum. which have been lovingly restored.

2.HOME OF ROBERT AND ELAINE SELLE, 111 Gulf Drive, Waveland, Open 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. This Acadian-style cottage was designed and built in 1980, on an acre of beautifully wooded property. The stone fireplace, a centerpiece of the country

French-style living room, was built from stones taken from an Arkansas farm. In 1988, the side porch was glass enclosed to create a sun room for viewing the grounds and a large deck was constructed to surround the sun room. Two additional living spaces were recently created, one for entertaining and one as a separate living quarter. 3. HOME OF MR: AND MRS. ROLAND SCHEXNAYDER, 113 Market Street, Waveland, Open 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. This house was built in 1993. The exterior design is of a raised Creole cottage as seen along the waterways of southwest Louisiana. The floor plan is an adaptation of the plan of an American cottage. Furnishings indicate Victorian influences and consist of pieces from France England, and the United States. They reflect the owner's hobby of refinishing good, old pieces from markets in Mississippi and Louisiana. The gardens reflect a desire to recreate the old fashioned Southern gardens.

4. GARDENS OF PAUL AND CARMEN SANTA CRUZ,

the aroma of wisteria and feel the privacy.

The cypress and tile Island is a perfect point for entertainment with unique lighthouse windows overlooking the pool and

Air Supply to appear at Magic Quests can relieve the magical sounds of the '80s and spend ser evening lost in love with the legendary Air Supply Saturday, April 11 at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis.

Exploring love's dimensions and touching hearts around the world has been Air Supply's m.o. from the beginning. "All Out of Love," "Lost in Love,"
"The One That You Love," "Making Love Out of Nothing at All," and "Sweet Dreams" are some of the many top 5 hits the band has enjoyed since 1975 when Australian-born Russell and U.K. native Graham met while appearing together in an Australian production of "Jesus Christ Superstar."

Their 1976 debut single, "Love and Other Bruises," hit No. 2 in Australia, and their debut album turned gold in six weeks. Once "Lost in Love" became a worldwide hit in 1980, the group's future success was Given their many hits over the years, it might come as a surprise to learn that Air Supply had never before released a live concert album until the release of Greatest hits Live - Now and Forever. Currently celebrating over 20 years together as a band, Graham Russell and Russell Hitchcock packed their Giant Records album with hit after hit, creating a lasting testa-ment to Air Supply's enduring appeal.

Beginning March 20, guests have the opportunity to earn free tickets for the show. To purchase tickets, call the Casino Magic Gift shop at 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or Ticket-Master. Ticket prices are $15, $20 and $25. Showtime is 9 p.m.

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)— Sophomore quarterback Romaro Miller took most of the snaps during Ole Miss first scrimmage of spring football practice Saturday, and responded by hitting 31-of-48 passes for 569 yards and seven touchdowns.

"We wanted to make sure Romaro got as many snaps as possible," said Ole Miss coach Tommy Tuberville. We felt Romaro needed to get more reps, especially since he's learning the checks. He's still learing the offense, and that means getting into the right play at the right time."

During one stretch of the scrimmage, Miller had three consecutive passes go for 40-

Miller, who saw limited action in just three games last fall, moved up to the starting position after record-breaking senior Stewart Patridge completed his eligibility. Miller is the only quarterback at Ole Miss who has any real-game experience.

Junior quarterback Jeff Smith completed 5-of-11 passes for 104 yards in Saturday's Ken Lucas had six catches for 130 yards, including TDs of 40 and 20 yards. Jason Clingan caught six passes for 115 yards, including TDs of 55 and 14 yards.

"Romaro threw the ball well," Tuberville said. "We had some big plays on offense and our receivers caught the big play versus the blitz.

Defense highlights Bulldogs' spring

STARKVILLE. (AP)—Mississippi State reached the midway point of spring football practice Saturday, with the defense narrowing the performance gap on the offense during a 70play, 90-minute scrimmage.

The Bulldogs offense made most of the big plays the first. seven days of the spring drills, but the first- and second-team offenses had more trouble scoring during the scrimmage.

"I guess the best thing about the scrimmage is we didn't get anybody hurt," MSU head coach Jackie Sherrill said, and it gave us a chance to work for the first time in

The defense had four interceptions, two returned for touchdowns, and converted a fumble into another score. Safety Eric Daniel and linebacker Bert Keys both had six tackles each,

Senior tailback James Johnson got his first scrimmage work of the spring, rushing three times for 42 yards and a touchdown. Kevin Prentiss caught four passes for 107 yards and a score.

As for the quarterbacks, Rob Morgan struggled at 3-of-11 passing for 39 yards, primarily against the No. 1 defense. Matt Wyatt was 6-of-9 passing for 89 yards with an interception, and Wayne Madkin hit 3-of-4 for 104 yards, with two touchdowns

Golden Eagles practice in full pads

ing spring.

HATTIESBURG, (AP)—Southern Mississippi will don full pads Friday for the first time during spring football practice.

The Golden Eagles, who have won two straight Conference USA championships, held their first two spring workouts in shorts Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Our offseason workouts showed. The players have worked hard in that area, and it was easy to tell the players who have been with us from those who haven't;"-Southern Miss coach Jeff Bower said after the first workout. "We got in a lot of reps for just about everyone, and I really think we'll have an outstand-

"We have some people who have added weight and yet lost body fat, others who have improved their speed, and overall I think we're really in outstanding shape.'

Southern Miss will conduct 15 spring workouts, concluding with the annual Black and Gold Spring Game on April 18.

The Golden Eagles, who will play five home games in 1998, play their season opener Sept. 5 at Penn State.

Davis for the feature.

The IMCA feature was probably the most contested race of the night at Sun Coast Speedway in Pass Christian as drivers battled for position.

Heat winner Nick Sellier shared the front row with Ben Stephens for the start of the feature, but it was Donald Parker who furnished most of the excitement.

Parker worked his way from the third row into the second spot to battle Chris Moran for the lead. Moran was up to the challenge and held Parker at bay for the last couple of laps as they raced to the checkers. This was Moran's first win since moving to the IMCA class after having much success in the Street Stock division. Sellier was able to hold off Stephens to finish in the third spot;

Heat winners Owen Kosbab and Jerry Winstead lead the 20-car field of Street Stocks to the green flag. The Pro Stock field was headed by heat winners Gary Joiner and Rodney Bruce for the start of the feature race. Joiner was another flag-to-flag winner as he managed to hold off a hard-charging group of competitors. Bruce and Chet Morrison, both winners this season, had to settle for the second and third sports on this Bubba McQueen finished fourth on his return to racing after a year's absence from competition serving notice he will have to be record with in this very strong division.
